

UNLESS

= if not / except if

We use unless to mean
"if not" or "except if".

Unless + present simple,
.... will + base verb.

Example:
Unless I study,
I won't pass
the exam. ★

Unless I study...

...I won't pass
the exam.

Remember:

Unless = if not / except if

You can do it! ♥

UNLESS (= if not / except if)

- Structure: Unless + Present Simple, will/can/may + Verb
 - Unless I phone you, you can assume the train is on time. = If I don't phone...
 - We'll cancel the show unless we sell more tickets. = If we don't sell more...
 - You will fail unless you study. = If you don't study...
- Important rules
 - ❌ Don't use "unless" for impossible past conditions
 - ❌ Don't combine "unless + if"
 - ~~Unless the government had raised prices...~~
 - If the government had not raised prices...

SHOULD + SUBJECT (formal conditional)

- Meaning - Very formal way of saying: “If something happens (maybe unlikely)…”
- Structure: Should + Subject + Verb, main clause
- Should you wish to cancel your order, contact us. = If you wish to cancel...
- Should your child become anxious, inform the teacher. = If your child becomes...
- Usage – formal letters | rules and instructions | official documents

HAD + SUBJECT (third conditional inversion)

- Meaning - Used instead of: If + Past Perfect
- Structure: Had + Subject + V3, would have + V3
- Had I known you were waiting, I would have helped. = If I had known...
- Had she studied harder, she would have passed. = If she had studied...

As long as / so long as / provided that / on condition that
