

Suppose, Supposing, and What if ?

Suppose

We use suppose to introduce a situation.

Example:

Suppose it rains tomorrow.
What will we do?

Used to talk about
imaginary or unlikely situations

Supposing

A more formal way to say "if".

Example:

Supposing I had more time, I would learn another language.

What if

We use what if to think about possible problems or changes.

Example:

What if something goes wrong?

What if I miss my flight?

Supposing I win the scholarship...

Suppose it rains tomorrow...

Remember!

- ☆ These are all used in conditional sentences.
- ☆ They help us imagine different results.
- ☆ Usually used in the present or future.

SUPPOSE (THAT)

- Suppose (that) = imagine that / let's assume that
- We use it to introduce a possible or imaginary situation.
- Structure: Suppose (that) + clause
 - Suppose you won the lottery. What would you do?
 - Suppose he doesn't come. What shall we do?
 - Suppose they refuse our offer. What happens then?
 - If you won the lottery, what would you do?
 - Suppose you won the lottery. What would you do?
- The meaning is almost the same, but suppose sounds more like "Let's imagine..."

SUPPOSING (THAT)

- Supposing (that) = what if / if
- Used to discuss a possible situation, especially one that may cause concern.
- Structure: Supposing (that) + clause
- Supposing it rains tomorrow, what will we do?
- Supposing you lost your passport, how would you get home?
- Supposing he didn't agree, what would happen?
- Supposing you were offered a job abroad, would you accept it?
- Supposing nobody came to the meeting, what would you do?

WHAT IF

- What if = suppose/supposing that
- Used to ask about the consequences of a situation.
- Structure: What if + clause?
 - What if it rains tomorrow?
 - What if she says no?
 - What if nobody believes us?
 - What if you won a million dollars?
 - What if you were the president?
 - What if aliens landed tomorrow?

WHAT IF

- FIRST CONDITIONAL WITH "WHAT IF"

- What if it rains tomorrow?
- What if he doesn't call?

- SECOND CONDITIONAL WITH "WHAT IF"

- What if you met your favorite actor?
- What if we lived on Mars?

- THIRD CONDITIONAL WITH "WHAT IF"

- What if she had accepted the offer?
- What if we had left earlier?

Compare

- If

- If it rains, we'll stay home.
- Focus: the condition

- What if

- What if it rains?
- Focus: the consequence/problem

- Suppose

- Suppose it rains. What will we do?
- Focus: imagining the situation
